

Creating an Engaging Classroom

Help your student teachers inspire their students!

This super interactive workshop will captivate your student teachers and provide them with strategies they can use immediately!

Teachers will learn new ways to engage, not only reluctant or struggling learners, but all students PreK-12 in a student centered learning experience that will excite and challenge them.

In a study of high school students, 66% said they were bored in class every day! (Macklem, 2015)

Students do not learn when they are bored!

This workshop is conducted by educational consultant and national presenter, Larry Bell. Larry has helped schools and districts nationwide increase their student achievement for over 20 years.

Some of the topics to be addressed:

- Research on student engagement – Including eight characteristics of teachers with highly engaging classrooms.
- Thirty-two ways to present a lesson without having to lecture - Ways to help students take responsibility for their own learning.
- Five elements of an inspiring lesson plan - Techniques to increase emotional engagement in a lesson.
- Six clear indicators of student engagement- Expect internal and external engagement.
- Twenty-four “total immersion” activities for all grades - Take what must be taught and make it engaging.

This workshop will help your student teachers and graduates be energized, inspired and better prepared than ever before!
